

The Chinese Australian Historical Society Inc. in conjunction with the State Library of NSW cordially invites you to

The Annual Henry Chan Lecture 2023 delivered by Dr Jennifer Hsu
“Navigating Chinese Identity in Australia in the 21st Century”

Dr Jennifer Hsu is Visiting Senior Fellow in the Social Policy Research Centre, UNSW. She is also a Research Fellow at the Lowy Institute in the Public Opinion and Foreign Policy Program.

She is currently working on a project which explores the intersections of Australia’s multiculturalism and foreign policy.

After completing a PhD at Cambridge in Development Studies, she researched and taught in development studies, political science, and sociology in universities in North America and the UK.

Dr Jennifer Hsu

Her research expertise covers state-society relations, state-NGO relations, the internationalisation of Chinese NGOs, diaspora studies and civil society, and she is published widely in these areas.

Recently, she co-authored the Lowy Institute’s acclaimed 2023 report Being Chinese in Australia: Public Opinion in Chinese Communities.

Date: Thursday 30th November 2023

Time: 6.00-8.00 pm

Venue: Dixson Room, entry via the Mitchell Library building at the State Library of NSW

Cost: FREE of charge

It is essential to book on Eventbrite, whether attending in person or via Zoom on the following link:
<https://www.eventbrite.com.au/e/navigating-chinese-identity-in-australia-in-the-21st-century-tickets-744925631617>

For those attending the lecture by Zoom, the link will be sent following registration.